DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

(e) the invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English language.

1. Claims 22-27 rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by Kunze-Concewitz (5,964,952).

Kunze-Concewitz discloses a method and an apparatus for cleaning a circular silicon wafer, wherein the device includes a substrate holding means, wherein the substrate is rotating about a center axis (col.6, lines 4-7).

Kunze-Concewitz also discloses a first supply system to supply liquid on a first part and a second supply system to supply gaseous substance to a second part and the second part is adjacent to the first part (col.2, lines 8-20, col.6, lines 46-61, figure 12).

As to claim 24, Kunze-Concewitz teaches that the nozzles are capable to supply on the annular edge area of the substrate because the supply nozzles is movable (see figure 13).

As to claim 27, Kunze-Concewitz teaches that the device is further comprises to direct a stream on to the second side of the substrate (col.5, lines 2-14).

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

2. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

Art Unit: 1765

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

3. This application currently names joint inventors. In considering patentability of the claims under 35 U.S.C. 103(a), the examiner presumes that the subject matter of the various claims was commonly owned at the time any inventions covered therein were made absent any evidence to the contrary. Applicant is advised of the obligation under 37 CFR 1.56 to point out the inventor and invention dates of each claim that was not commonly owned at the time a later invention was made in order for the examiner to consider the applicability of 35 U.S.C. 103(c) and potential 35 U.S.C. 102(e), (f) or (g) prior art under 35 U.S.C. 103(a).

4. Claims 28-48 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Kunze-Concewitz (5,964,952) as applied to claims 22-27 above, and further in view of Crowe (5,749,413).

Kunze-Concewitz discussed above in the paragraph 1 but does not disclose that the first and the second supply system include annular channels and comprising a sealing device between the substrate and the outer wall of the second annular channel.

However, in a method of processing semiconductor devices by supplying fluids, Crowe teaches that sealing mechanism is introduced between the annular channel and the substrate holder for preventing leakage of the fluid medium (col.3, lines 40-47).

Therefore, it would have been obvious to one skilled in the art at the time of claimed invention to combine Crowe's teaching into Kunze-Concewitz's apparatus for preventing the loss of supplied fluid as taught by Crowe.

Double Patenting

5. The nonstatutory double patenting rejection is based on a judicially created doctrine grounded in public policy (a policy reflected in the statute) so as to prevent the unjustified or improper timewise extension of the "right to exclude" granted by a patent and to prevent possible harassment by multiple assignees. See In re Goodman, 11 F.3d 1046, 29 USPQ2d 2010 (Fed. Cir. 1993); In re Longi, 759 F.2d 887, 225 USPQ 645 (Fed. Cir. 1985); In re Van Ornum, 686 F.2d 937, 214 USPQ 761 (CCPA 1982); In re Vogel, 422 F.2d 438, 164 USPQ 619 (CCPA 1970); and, In re Thorington, 418 F.2d 528, 163 USPQ 644 (CCPA 1969).

A timely filed terminal disclaimer in compliance with 37 CFR 1.321(c) may be used to overcome an actual or provisional rejection based on a nonstatutory double patenting ground provided the conflicting application or patent is shown to be commonly owned with this application. See 37 CFR 1.130(b).

Effective January 1, 1994, a registered attorney or agent of record may sign a terminal disclaimer. A terminal disclaimer signed by the assignee must fully comply with 37 CFR 3.73(b).

6. Claim 22 is rejected under the judicially created doctrine of obviousness-type double patenting as being unpatentable over claim 10 of U.S. Patent No. 6,334,902. Although the conflicting claims are not identical, they are not patentably distinct from each other because the only difference between the patent 6,334,902 and the instant application is that the patent '902 does not explicitly disclose a second supply system to supply gaseous substance but it would have been obvious that the heat source will create a gaseous substance.

Conclusion

7. The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure. Britten (5,660,642) and Lee et al (5,887,605), both disclose a cleaning apparatus including two supply systems on to a substrate, which is relatable.
